

BOTTLED WATER IS A SERIOUS PROBLEM

The momentum has been building – drought, global warming, water contamination, fuel crisis, economic downturn... We've reached a critical time for our environment and our economy. It is the hard truth that everything we consume and do has an impact on the world around us. Bottled water is no small exception.

For the simple convenience of having clean water we've made some poor choices. In case you haven't been paying attention, here are some hard facts about bottled water:

- » OVER 30 BILLION BOTTLES of water were consumed by Americans in the year 2006 alone.
- » LESS THAN 14 PERCENT were recycled.
- » 26 BILLION BOTTLES were sent to landfills or incinerated. In landfills, they take 400 to 1,000 years to biodegrade. During incineration, toxic chlorine gas and ash containing heavy metals are produced.
- » 16.5 BILLION GALLONS of water were wasted – Two gallons for every gallon of water sold.
- » 17 MILLION BARRELS of crude oil were used in the production process – that's enough oil to fuel one million cars a year. And this figure does not include fuel used in transportation or to generate power for storage.
- » 2.5 MILLION TONS of CO<sub>2</sub> were discharged during production – again, this does not account for transportation or storage.
- » COSTS 5,000 x MORE than tap water – despite the fact that a large percentage of bottled water is just filtered tap water. That's up to $10 per gallon.
